

Alan Lund

Group Product Compliance Manager
Electrocomponents PLC

Alan has worked within the electronics industry for almost 30 years in technical and commercial roles including electronic design, test and calibration, installation and commissioning, field service and repair, sales and product management.

He is currently Group Product Compliance Manager for Electrocomponents PLC and is responsible for ensuring that products offered for sale by the Group comply with all the relevant legislation in markets where they are sold.

Electrocomponents PLC has 27 operating companies based in Europe, Asia and the United States, the most established of which is RS Components in the UK which has been operating for over 70 years.

RS Components distributes Electronics and Maintenance products to B2B customers through multiple channels. For more information go to <http://uk.rs-online.com/web/>

End of Document